

Deaf, dumb and blind

(Text: Jürgen Seibold, 1996)

Came to see you, but I'm feeling blind.
There's no light to see, just darkness all around.

Came to talk to you, but I'm feeling dumb.
There's no word to say, just silence all around.

Don't know what I did expect,
I'm at a loss what to do with that.

Came to touch you, but I'm feeling numb.
There's no skin to caress, just unfeelingness all around.

Came to smell you, but I caught a cold.
There's no scent to inhale, just neatness all around.

Don't know what I did expect,
I'm at a loss what to do with that.
Don't know what I wanted to see,
but it was not what I found here.

Came to see you, but I'm feeling blind.
There's no light to see, just darkness all around.
